“The success of the school business office depends on much more than just the business official. We chose an ASBO International district membership so that our staff in the business office, human resources office, and the leadership of facilities and technology could have access to the great resources ASBO International has to offer. Providing access to ASBO’s various publications and educational resources provides these leaders with information consistent with what we as business officials practice which, in turn, allows them to leverage our resources through better-aligned philosophies and practices.”

Jason Demerath, SFO, Director of Business Services, School District of Fort Atkinson, Fort Atkinson, WI
